County Wants To Limit ADA Contract Exchange

Parents Say Status Quo On City-County Pupil Swap

By DEBBIE N. LEE
Staff Reporter

Approximately 200 interested parents, teachers and citizens attended the Murray Independent School Board meeting Thursday night to express their concern about the proposed change in non-resident pupil contracts by the Calloway County Board of Education.

The proposal, which would limit the number of non-resident kindergarten and first grade students to 10 each and the number of kindergarten through grade 12 students to 800, was suggested in a letter from the county board to the city board dated Jan. 3.

At present, each board routinely approves the average daily attendance (ADA) contracts each year for non-resident students who wish to attend the other school system. This year, 367 students who are county district residents are attending the city school system and 76 students who are city residents are attending the county school system.

The ADA, which helps to determine the amount of money the school district receives from the state, is exchanged by the signing of these contracts. This exchange makes it possible for the city system to charge only $30 a semester per student since money also comes from the state.

The county board voted last year to abolish the charging of tuition in the future to non-resident students because of the feeling that most of their non-resident students had been attending the county system and had simply moved out of the district.

If no contract is signed approving the exchange of ADA between the two school districts, all money from the state stops making necessary the charging of a tuition fee that would cover the "lost" state money.

The letter, stating the county board's concern pertaining to the future signing of an unrestricted "Contract for Non-Resident Pupils" and signed by county superintendent Jack D. Rose says in part "The concern involves the unpredictable kindergarten and first grade enrollments at Southwest Elementary School. Sixty-five first grade pupils were enrolled at Southwest for 1977-78 and 39 for 1978-79. The list of pupils on the 'Contract for Non-Resident Pupils' for 1978-79 has been reviewed. A larger than normal number of kindergarten and first grade students from the Southwest attendance area are enrolled in the Murray Independent School District.

"One potential solution discussed would restrict the number of kindergarten and first grade students to 10 each and a total number of students, kindergarten through grade 12, to 300.

"To date, no Board action has been taken establishing an exact limit. The Calloway County Board of Education encourages suggestions from the Murray Independent Board of Education regarding the improvement of this situation.

"The Calloway County Board of Education is convinced that a reasonable solution to the above situation would be in the best interest of both school districts."

After reading the letter to those assembled in the Murray Middle School auditorium, city superintendent Robert Glin Jeffrey stated his belief that "meeting the needs of the students in our community" is the primary objective of the present system.

"We now give people the freedom of choice," Jeffrey continued. "This has helped the community to grow and the spirit of cooperation has helped us both excel in programs."

Jeffrey said he feels that the issue is not one of financial soundness since both the Calloway County and Murray Independent School Systems are operating within their budgets.

The superintendent said that the county was well within their authority to take this action. "They're holding the cards now. All we can do is appeal to their sense of fairness," he stated.

Board chairman Don Henry said,

Calloway County School Board Names Cothran Middle Principal

By LOWELL ATCHLEY
Staff Reporter

Calloway County Board of Education has named 37-year-old Roy Cothran principal of the new county middle school now under construction.

Cothran, of Edinborough Drive in Murray, is currently principal at Southwest Elementary in the county system.

Calloway County School Board, in a Thursday night session, also elected Walter Byars chairman of the board for a two year term. Byars' election came after he and Jerry "Red" Overbey were sworn in as newly elected board members.

The board also talked about a plan to correct fire code deficiencies in the system and commented further on a letter to Murray Independent Board of Education concerning future signing of unrestricted contracts for non-resident pupils.

Cothran was one of 16 persons applying for the newly opened middle school principalship in Calloway County School System.

Dr. Jack Rose, county superintendent of schools, said the selection process was involved — an original six person committee of board members, administrators and teachers screened the applications; the committee narrowed the group down to six and then to three finalists.

Cothran thanked the board for "the vote of confidence. I feel sure I'll do everything I can to help have a school we can be proud of."

Cothran said he has a "good working relationship with the teachers, parents and students at Southwest." He said, "It will be challenging job, being able to do something in the county school system that hasn't been done before."

The new school will house over 500 seventh and eighth graders in the county school system. It's now under construction and is located adjacent to the county high school on College Farm Road.

Cothran, who is one of six brothers and sisters involved in education in Calloway and Marshall counties, graduated from Benton High School. He attended Murray State, earning undergraduate and advanced degrees there. He has achieved 30 hours above a masters in school administration.

Cothran was a teacher-coach at Trigg County High for two years, a teacher-coach at Calloway County High for six years, a principal at Hazel Elementary for three years and has served as principal at Southwest for two years.

His wife Jane teaches at Southwest. The Cothrans have two children, Lynne, 13, and Alan, 9. They're affiliated with the South Pleasant Grove Methodist Church.

The school board also Thursday night defended a move that could restrict the number of kindergarten and first grade students in the county from enrolling in the Murray Independent School District.

Citing unpredictable kindergarten and first grade enrollments at Southwest Elementary as a primary concern, school board members late last year decided to write Murray board members about the situation.

Under the current agreement both school systems allow the exchange of students under unrestricted contracts. Average Daily Attendance (ADA) funds from the state, which are based in part on an average of daily attendance, go to the system the students attend. Rose said Southwest Elementary experienced a sharp drop in kindergarten and first grade enrollment at Southwest Elementary this year — 39 this year compared to 65 last school year.

"A larger than normal number of kindergarten and first grade students from the Southwest attendance area are enrolled in the Murray Independent School District."

Hearing Set On One-Way Proposal

A public hearing on the proposed one-way of Eighth and Ninth Streets in Murray from Sycamore to Olive Street has been scheduled for the next meeting of the Murray Common Council, Thursday, Jan. 25.

Council members decided to hold the hearing after several minutes of discussion on the recommendation which came from a joint council-Murray Planning Commission study.

The basis for the recommendation, according to council member Billy Balentine, is the anticipated traffic load around the Murray-Calloway County Hospital-Medical Arts complex after construction in the area is completed and the Medical Arts complex becomes fully occupied.

(Water & Gas Rates Changing...
See Additional Story This Page)

The committee recommendation is that Eighth Street be one-way in a southerly direction (from Olive to Sycamore) and that Ninth Street be one-way to the north (from Sycamore to Olive).

The recommendation also suggested that no parking be allowed on either side of either street.

Councilman Howard Koenen was the major objector to the proposal saying that he "sees no need for one-way streets."

"One-way streets create undue hardships on property owners and users," Koenen said. "... one-way reduces the value of property (on the street), encourages greater speeds and causes unnecessary losses of time for emergency vehicles," Koenen added. Balentine told the council that his committee had discussed the matter with the police chief, fire chief, ambulance service and others and that all were in agreement that the one-waying would ease the flow of traffic around the hospital complex.

"It appears to me that the city needs some way of improving traffic flow and this seems to be a good start," Dr. C. C. Lowry, another council member, said.

Balentine told The Murray Ledger & Times that the committee also studied the possibility of one-waying other streets in the city (primarily in the downtown area) but decided to wait until after a public meeting on the four-laning of Main Street (scheduled Jan. 23 in the auditorium of the Special Education Building on the MSU campus) before making additional proposals.

All interested citizens, particularly the residents of the area affected, are invited to attend the public hearing at the next council meeting.

Sanitation Study Okayed

The council also approved a two-stage feasibility study that will determine the effectiveness of curbside garbage pickup and the possibility of producing steam from solid waste to be utilized by Murray State in its central heating and cooling plant.

According to Mayor Melvin B. Henley the study, conducted at no cost to the city by the federal Environmental Protection Agency, "will point out things we could do that will be more cost-effective."

The survey will assess alternative curbside collection systems for residential refuse collection and will examine the impact of the commercial-

Council Okays Ordinance To Up Water Rates For Largest Users

The drawing of an ordinance that will increase rates for the Murray Water Systems largest customers was approved at Thursday's council meeting. In addition to the industrial water rate increase, the council was advised of a 38 cent per 1,000 cubic feet (mcf) increase in natural gas that will be passed along to customers of the Murray Natural Gas System with the February billing.

According to system superintendent Tommy Marshall, the city's largest industrial customers are currently paying an average of 24 cents per 1,000 gallons of water used while the cost of producing the water, excluding administrative costs, is 0.296 cents.

"The original idea," Marshall told the council, "is to make sure that all customers in the city at least reimburse the system the actual cost of producing the water."

Marshall also said that under the current rate structure, the system would be operating at a deficit by the end of the current year and this increase on industrial usage should produce enough additional revenue to keep the system in the black.

Councilman Stephen Yarbrough questioned the validity of discounting the cost of water to large users as compared to rates charged small commercial and residential customers. "I don't think, with the current economics, it's reasonable for small users to subsidize large users," Yarbrough said. "I think again that this is a stopgap type thing," he added.

Yarbrough was referring to the rate structure within the water system which has the average residential user paying $1 per 1,000 gallons, providing 57 percent of the system's revenue while accounting for only 35 percent of the system's usage.

Residential rates and usage were compared to those of industrial customers (who use more than 240,000 gallons of water per month). Industrial customers currently pay an average of 24 cents per 1,000 gallons providing 11 percent of the system's total revenue and accounting for 28 percent of the system's usage.

According to Marshall, the increase basically will only affect the system's nine largest users of water which includes industrial accounts, Murray State University, the hospital, some trailer courts and a local motel. The percent increase on these customers ranges from 17 percent to 66 percent.

The new ordinance will increase the rate for all water used over 60,000 gallons to 35 cents per 1,000 gallons used.

Marshall pointed out that he hopes the increase will also prompt water conservation among the biggest users as well as provide additional operating revenue for the system.

Gas Rate Increase

Marshall advised the council that the gas rate increase would increase the average homeowner's bill by about 20 percent beginning in February. He said the increase would amount to a yearly average of $3.75 per month to the residential user. The hike will raise the basic rate from $2 per mcf to $2.38 per mcf.

Marshall said the increase to the system from Texas Gas, the city's supplier, amounted to 35 percent.

The superintendent told The Murray Ledger & Times that the outlook for gas this year looks more favorable than the past two winter seasons when gas usage has been curtailed to keep the system from going over its allotment.

Mayor Melvin B. Henley reported that no further progress has been made on the proposal that the city purchase a gas well-storage field in Hopkins County, Ky. The action is awaiting approval at the federal level.

Henley said that the well will not supply the city a sufficient amount of gas that will allow the system to take on new customers. It is projected that the well will provide only 500,000 mcf of gas.

The advantage to the city in purchasing the well, according to explanations from both the mayor and Marshall, is that during periods when the system's customers are not consuming the total amount of gas allotted, that gas could be stored in the field to provide additional gas during peak use periods.

The storage field would also allow the city to store gas purchased from other systems that do not use their allotted amounts during a given period.

Federal Power Commission approval of the proposal is necessary because the gas will be transmitted through federally controlled gas transmission lines.

Trash Pickup Set

City of Murray sanitation trucks will be parked at two locations in the city Saturday so that local residents who desire to may dispose of their household refuse.

One of the trucks will be on the parking lot of the north office of Peoples Bank at the corner of Chestnut and 12th streets and the other will be located at the South Branch of the Bank of Murray on S. 12th Street.

Sanitation system superintendent Jerry Wallace urged local residents to place their refuse in plastic bags before bringing it to one of the sites.

The trucks will be stationed at the two locations from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday.

Wallace said that normal residential pickup will not be possible until the ice is cleared from local streets. He said the cooperation of all local residents is greatly appreciated.

Youth Dies After Being Struck By Car Last Week

Services for six-year-old Charles Christopher Jeffrey, who died at 2:30 p.m. Thursday at a Jackson, Tenn., hospital will be Saturday.

The youth, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen Jeffrey, Dexter Route 1, died after he was struck by a car Thursday, Jan. 4.

Kentucky State Police said the car was driven by Jack McLeod, Dexter Route 1. The accident happened about eight miles north of Murray on Kentucky 1346.

Hospital officials at Jackson-Madison County Hospital in Jackson said the youth sustained head and other injuries in the accident.

State police said McLeod was traveling west on the road when the vehicle he was driving struck the child. State police said the man told them the child ran into the roadway, in front of his car.

The child was first taken to Murray Calloway County Hospital for treatment, then transferred to the Jackson medical facility.

The little boy was a first grade student at North Calloway Elementary School. Born March 22, 1972, in Murray, he was the son of Charles Allen Jeffrey and Loretta Adams Jeffrey.

Survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey, and one brother, Charles Allen, Jr., Dexter Route 1; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Jeffrey, Hardin Route 1, and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Adams, Hazel Route 1; great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Jeffrey, Dexter Route 1, and Mrs. Hilda Warren, Benton Route 1.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the chapel of the Blalock-Coleman Funeral Home with the Rev. Fil Boston and the Rev. Dr. William P. Mullins, Jr., officiating. Mrs. L. D. Cook, Jr., and Mrs. Otto Erwin will be in charge of the music.

The interment will be in the Ledbetter Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. today (Friday).

HEALTH

Skim milk is superior

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read your column about skim milk being high in calcium. The nutritionist who was talking to that woman in your column was trying to tell her that calcium from milk cannot be properly absorbed without the cream. I wish they would outlaw skim milk and 2 percent fat milk. It does no good for the adult either. You cannot fool Mother Nature. She put the fat in the milk for a purpose.

DEAR READER — I am afraid you are expressing an opinion, not a fact. Your opinion isn't supported by the facts. You're absolutely wrong about the idea that you have to have fat to absorb calcium.

Calcium absorption is affected by the blood calcium level. If you have a lot of blood calcium you may not absorb much from the digestive tract. But, if your body needs calcium, the basic mechanisms in the wall of the small intestine change and you'll absorb a greater proportion of the calcium that is in your food.

The only advantage of whole milk over fat milk is that it increases your calorie intake, if that is what you want to do. Also, it increases your total fat intake. Worse, about half of butter fat is saturated fat. Individuals who need to limit their fat intake, and particularly their saturated fat intake, often do a great deal better on fortified skim milk.

As I pointed out in my earlier column, fortified skim milk contains more protein and it's milk protein so it's good quality. To give you some facts based on the U.S. Department of Agriculture data, I am sending you the Health Letter number 7-2, Milk Products: Good and Bad.

Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped self-addressed envelope for it. Send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Just to make your day complete, you might like to know that the American Heart Association's most recent position concerning children and diet to prevent heart disease recommends that all those children who are found to have high fat and cholesterol trouble should be put on a corrective diet.

In their overall report they also see no danger in modifying the diet for children to limit the cholesterol and saturated fat intake. If you translate those observations to milk, you'll find that what the committee is saying is that the relative absence of cholesterol and saturated fat in fortified skim milk is not harmful and for children with a higher risk factor for developing heart disease, it is recommended.

The committee that drew up the report for the American Heart Association pointed out that 80 per cent of U.S. infants are fed on formulas that contain very little cholesterol and a high portion of polyunsaturated fat as opposed to saturated fat. The committee observed that there had been no long term adverse effects from using such a formula. They also observed that children who had low cholesterol levels either through diet or on the basis of inherited characteristics appear to be perfectly healthy and have perfectly normal development.

So, long live fortified skim milk — for its improved nutritional quality, namely increased calcium (which certainly is absorbed if needed by the body) and its increased good quality protein without overloading the system with fat, in particular saturated fat and cholesterol.

Common Cold —

Most Of Diseases Are Caused By Viruses

"There are many causes for the common cold, so we can't blame our miseries this winter on one organism," says Dr. Isaac Ruchman, a retired University of Kentucky professor of microbiology.

"And there is no sure way to defend yourself against bugs that infect the upper respiratory system," Ruchman said. "Most of the diseases are caused by viruses and about the only thing you can do for a virus infection is stay in bed and rest. Fortunately most viruses are self-limited, but unfortunately small scale outbreaks do occur. Control measures that can be taken include washing the hands with soap and water and avoiding the 'sneezers'."

Ruchman, who has been working with the UK College of Engineering Education since his retirement, said that viruses which cause so much human misery are the simplest forms of "life" and are different from all other forms of life. He explained that many of them are so small they can be seen only with the aid of an electron microscope. Some viruses can survive in the soil for years, but they need living tissues to multiply.

Viruses which have caused influenza have been identified by various names such as Russian flu, Hong Kong flu, Asian flu and swine flu.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I've got mother-in-law trouble — but not the kind you usually hear about.

I'm 31 and my mother-in-law is 44, and a real swinging divorcee. She's the kissy type, always kissing me hello and goodbye, even when I'm only going into the next room.

If I sit down, Laura (that's her name) is on my lap in two seconds. She's always wanting me to dance with her, and when she cuddles up, her instincts are anything but maternal.

My wife doesn't even notice, and she thinks it's great that her mother likes me so much. Abby, it's gotten so I dread being left alone with Laura. How can I chill her without making an issue of it?

KEN IN TORONTO

DEAR KEN: First, start calling her "Mother" instead of Laura. Then tell her you don't feel like dancing, and she's too heavy to hold on your lap. If she's still in your hair, you must be doing something wrong. I've yet to meet a 31-year-old man who couldn't run faster than his mother-in-law.

DEAR ABBY: When a kid goes wrong, would you say it was due to his environment or heredity?

D.J. IN CAMDEN, N.J.

DEAR D.J.: It's a toss-up. But one thing is certain. His parents will get blamed for both.

DEAR ABBY: I can't believe I'm actually writing a Dear Abby letter, but here I am, a man of 62, and an attorney at that. (If you use my name or town, I'll sue you!)

I've been single for several years, and until four months ago I never met a woman I wanted to marry. This doll who has me talking to myself is 55, widowed, and has a married son who is 29.

When I proposed to her she acted thrilled, said she loved me and wanted to marry me, but said I would have to ask her son for her hand in marriage!

I've met her son and like him very much and think he likes me, too. But how does a 62-year-old man ask a 29-year-old kid for his mother's hand in marriage?

SPEECHLESS

DEAR SPEECHLESS: At 29, he's a man — not a kid. And you have three options: Write him a letter, call him on the phone or ask him in person.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LEFT OUT": As a rule, people do not get "left out." They leave themselves out because they are too lazy to do what is necessary to keep up.

Many adults have gone back to school. The solution to your problem could be as near to you as the school that offers classes in adult education. Look into it.

Genealogy

Search Broadens As Persons Seek For Family History

By Helen Price Stacy

The next issue of THE EAST KENTUCKIAN, a genealogical quarterly, is scheduled to come out in March. Clayton R. Cox and wife Elizabeth B. Cox of Lexington are the new editor and associate editor, succeeding Henry P. and Nora J. Scalf of Stanville. The quarterly was founded in 1965 by Scalf who has helped thousands of families find their ancestors.

Genealogy is one of the oldest pastimes. It is no respecter of persons, is not biased, prejudiced, snobbish. Genealogy, when compiled correctly, presents facts as they are, closest skeletons and all, royalty where there is royalty, the Mayflower where there was the Mayflower.

To help Rita Aymond of 202 Swigert Ave., Frankfort, find her answers, informants would have to be familiar with an outstanding artist of his time. The Frankfort resident is doing research for a possible book on her grandfather James William Day who performed musically as "Blind Jilson Setters."

Setters was well-known throughout Eastern Kentucky and lived the last of his life in Ashland.

Many newspapers for years have carried genealogical columns: other publications, realizing the "great search" is on, have begun giving space for ancestry information. "Ancestor Hunting" in THE LEWIS COUNTY HERALD, Vanceburg, is an old column; "Kentucky Kin" in THE FULTON DAILY LEADER, Fulton, is a new one.

Mrs. S.E. Mortenson of 3661 Pimlico Dr., Pleasanton, Calif. is tracing the Cochran and Barker families. Dr. William M. Talley who writes "Ancestor Hunting" states that Mrs. Mortenson's ancestor, Andrew Cochran (in Morgan County the name at one time also was spelled Cockerham), was born in 1769 in York County, Pa., son of John and Sarah Miller Cochran. Andrew came to Kentucky and married Jane Barker of Mason or Fleming County.

In "Kentucky Kin" by Eunice Mitchell, she shows a picture of young Matthew Osborne Fleming, born Jan. 20, 1978, and says the youngster is an eighth generation descendant of Bassett A. Beades and also of Isham Browder. The information is from a book on four Jackson Purchase families by Mary Beades, certified genealogist of Dallas, Texas. The families are Harris, Beades, Browder and Guerrant and connecting lines include Barringer, Cobb, Bard, Ellington, Warford, Allin, Aydelott, Baird, Coats, Jackson, Kemp, Porter and Rowlett.

Eunice Mitchell writes her column near the Tennessee border, while in Northeast Kentucky Myrtle Wheeler Minix of 1400 Morningside Dr., Ashland, who connects with the Ellingtons, wants to know if Joseph Williams who married Lydia Wheeler was a descendant of Elder Daniel Williams of Floyd and Morgan counties. She also asks, "Was Civilier Nickell, wife of John Nickell, a Janes or Jayne before marriage?" She is interested in Ferguson, Caskey, Ellington, Pelfrey, Williams, Jayne, Remy, McCarty lines and offers that Henry Jayne was born Feb. 13, 1754 in Orange, N.Y. and his wife Abigail Wheeler was born Jan. 31, 1751. Jayne's parents were Isaac and Mary Jones Jayne. William Jayne, born in Orange, N.Y. in 1776, married Dorcas Remy, daughter of Eleanor and William Remy. She wonders if Dorcas's mother Eleanor was a sister to President James Madison.

Mrs. Minix adds that the salt box home built by the Jaynes in 1730 is being historically preserved and is located on the Old Post Road of East Setauket, Long Island, N.Y.

Lucille Mynhier Evans of Salt Lick is working on her Mynhier family and allied lines of McKenzie, Saylor, Perry, Wages, Ellington, Smiley and Click. Her ancestor William Mynhier was a major in the Civil War, resigning as sheriff of Morgan County to enlist. "While William was sheriff," said Mrs. Evans, "he had to hang William Brown who murdered the pack peddler there."

Eleanor H. Wheeler of 150 Silverado Trail 22, Napa, Calif. wants information on her great grandparents, Charles W. Young, Virginia 1790 and Margaret "Peggy" McBroom, daughter of William McBroom, Virginia 1798.

Thomas B. Durham of 6110 McCommas, Dallas, Texas, seeks information on his great grandfather John Housewright born about 1760 who married Martha Patsy Boulter, Augusta County, Va.

Edwin B. Lewis of 4614 LBJ Freeway, Dallas, Texas, said his father Pinkard Lewis, left Rowan County in 1884. A widower, in 1890 he married Kate Bramblitt. "Papa knew little of his Kentucky relatives. His father was Jonathan Lewis, a grandson of Thomas Lewis, Revolutionary War soldier, who is buried in Morgan County. If I could get to West Liberty I would examine the records, but this is unlikely as I am 85 and quit driving years ago."

Interest in genealogy can strike one at any age, and the cold months ahead would be a good time to start taking notes, writing letters and researching family history.

For those who want to contact the Coxes concerning THE EAST KENTUCKIAN, write them at Box 24202, Lexington, Ky. 40524.

Cochrum-Overcast Engagement Told

The engagement of Miss Anita Cochrum to Kenneth Wayne Overcast, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Overcast of Hazel, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marlin K. Cochrum of Murray.

Miss Cochrum attended Calloway County High School. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan C. Cochrum of Murray, and Mrs. Bernice Dunbar of Akron, Ohio, and the late Thomas Dunbar.

The groom to be attended Calloway County High School and is now employed in Murray. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Richerson of Murray Route 7 and Mrs. Ruth Overcast of Hazel and the late Robert Overcast.

Wedding plans will be announced at a later date.

Lana Lasater Crowned As Miss Rainbow 1978

Peptic Ulcer Now Thought Inherited

By DANIEL Q. HANEY
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON (AP) — The peptic ulcer, long thought to be a symptom of the stresses of modern life, may actually be inherited in many cases, according to a new study.

California researchers say that more than half of all ulcers may be passed on from generation to generation, although drinking, diet and stress can make the disease appear sooner.

For the first time, the doctors said, they have found a specific, genetically-determined trait that can be measured to figure out who is in danger of developing an ulcer of the duodenum, the most common form of this intestinal ailment.

One researcher said the discovery may make it possible for doctors to spot youngsters who risk ulcers and help them avoid the disease.

A report on the research, conducted at Harbor-UCLA Medical Center in Torrance, Calif., was published in the New England Journal of Medicine.

The doctors discovered that, in some families, people whose stomachs secrete unusually large amounts of an enzyme called pepsinogen are likely to have ulcers.

The researchers said they are not sure whether pepsinogen always means an inclination to develop ulcers. Other studies, however, have shown that two-thirds of people with duodenal ulcers also have high levels of this enzyme.

Peptic ulcers occur in 8 percent to 12 percent of American adults. An ulcer is a painful hole in the stomach or duodenum, the section of the intestine just below the stomach, that is caused by excess stomach acid.

Margaret Taylor Hostess For Meet, Eva Wall Group

Margaret Taylor opened her home for the meeting of the Eva Wall Mission Group of the Memorial Baptist Church held on Monday, Dec. 18, at 11 a.m.

The Rev. Dr. Jerrell White, church pastor, gave the devotion with scripture from Luke 2:8-21.

Group singing was held with Thyra Crawford playing the auto harp.

Laura Jennings presided and Mae Foster gave the call to prayer reading Psalms 136 and the names of missionaries having birthdays on that date.

The group voted to give $10 to the Little Moon offering for foreign missions and sent cards to eight shut-ins.

A potluck supper was served to the fourteen members and the following guests—Dr. and Mrs. White, Pauline Wainwright, Pat Futrell, and Dot Danner.

HEARTLINE

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write Heartline, 114 East Dayton Street, West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. You will receive a prompt reply, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: Each month I send my medical bills to Medicare. Sometimes these include bills from three or four different doctors. Lately, the payments have been delayed because Medicare has written for more information about itemizing the doctor's bill more completely. Is there any way I can prevent this delay? — R.T.

You are attaching all doctor's bills to one Medicare claim form. One carrier we checked with suggested that you attach bills from each doctor to a separate claim form, thus permitting the correctly itemized ones to be paid more promptly. We also suggest that you visit the doctor whose claims need more itemization and discuss the carrier's letter with him. By having the claim correctly itemized, your payments will be more prompt.

HEARTLINE: I am a 60-year-old widow. I have always bought everything by paying cash. I would like to get some credit cards so I would not have to carry cash all the time. I understand that, to qualify for a credit card, I must give bank references. I have quite a bit of money in different bank accounts and I do not want this information easily obtained. Now, can I qualify for credit cards or am I too old? — E.W.

First, no one is too old to obtain credit cards. The Equal Credit Opportunity Act makes it illegal to discriminate against a credit applicant because of his or her age. So do not let any bank, retail store, or credit card company tell you that you are too old to qualify.

When applying for a credit card, there is no law that says you have to disclose everything about your finances. But if you do not provide enough information to prove your credit-worthiness, the company has every right to turn your application down. However, the company must give you a written explanation of why you were turned down.

If you are worried about your bank-account information falling into the wrong hands, you should know that once you apply for a loan or credit card, the information is usually passed on to a credit bureau and put into a file. If you applied for credit again the future, the company would probably check with the credit bureau about your financial track record. It is impossible to tell exactly where this information will turn up.

An easy way to establish credit is to use one of your savings accounts as collateral for a bank loan. Pay it back promptly and you have now established a good credit rating.

It might be wise for you to study credit-card buying, particularly in the area of interest rates and finance charges. After checking the high cost of credit, you may want to stick with cash purchases.

HEARTLINE: I am 39 years old and I have three children (ages 9, 12, 16). My husband passed away last month. He was in a management position with a large company and made very good money. Since he worked in private industry, he was covered by Social Security. Can I now receive Social Security benefits? — K.L.

Yes, you and your children are now eligible for survivor's benefits from Social Security. Your children can all receive benefits from Social Security until they are 18 or until they are 22 if they continue as full-time students. The portion of the benefit for you would end when your youngest child turns 18 years old. You should apply for this immediately at your local Social Security office.

Atchley's Angle

By Lowell Atchley

The Joy Of Falling

Falling is about to overtake running as the "in" sport among the physically fit crowd.

The weather we've had of late, with streets and sidewalks as slick as a butter-covered doorknob, is especially suited for the aspiring faller.

Joe Gonzo has taken up the new sport and during an interview from his hospital bed the other day, he said you just can't jump into falling.

"It's just like running," Joe said, "you don't trot out of the house and run five miles on the first day. You have to work into falling gradually."

Gonzo was recuperating with a busted kneecap, two cracked ribs, a chipped elbow, 17 assorted bruises ranging up to the size of a grapefruit and a possible skull fracture.

"I was demonstrating the latest technique in falling for the wife Irma and I guess I just got carried away, lost my footing or something," Gonzo remarked.

"How in the world could you get that carried away?" I asked.

"Well it was supposed to have been one heck of a fall if I had accomplished it like I was supposed to," Gonzo explained. He tried to wave his arms for emphasis but the pain was too much. "I wanted to show her how to do a forward flip fall on water soaked ice but I musta slipped backwards. The last thing I remember was one leg was headed one way and the other one the opposite . . . and here I am," he said.

Yours must have been a . . . shall I say freak . . . accident for an accomplished faller," I said.

"True," Gonzo said. "My fall was a demonstration of all the physical movements not to make when falling to the ground . . ."

"I've fallen at least three times on this ice and snow," I interrupted, "and I remember I always sensed it was fate, that there was nothing I could really do."

"Yes and no," Joe said. "You probably couldn't have stopped your fall. But a clean, effortless fall can be accomplished with just a few basic movements. Now let's say you want to do just your basic backwards drop to the ice. Okay. You slip. Your feet go out from under you. When you leave the ground, quickly draw your knees to your chest, throw your body into a 'V' shape and stick your arms straight out. Your lowest point of gravity is your rear. Your outstretched arms give the needed balance and your rear absorbs the impact."

"Interesting," I said, "thinking of my bruised rear."

"Yes, but you have to be sure to stick your arms straight out. A miscue and you land on your side, possibly breaking your hip or leg," Joe told me.

"Ahem. Yes. What tips do you have for the person who wants to take up falling?" I inquired.

"Well, first you have to be in good shape and you can accomplish that by running. Next, if you plan to go out falling, take a few practice drops on the dining room floor to get warmed up. And, don't overdo your falling. If you fall enough to require medical attention, you've overdone it," Gonzo said.

"Ummmmmm. They tell me that falling is a means of achieving a natural high," I said. "Ya. But I don't go in for that part of it," Joe said. "Most of those guys practice falling on their heads." "Joe, do you think you've found the ultimate sport? I know you once sat in a pothole for charity. And I know you enjoy camping on unfinished roadbeds. You once were a running advocate. Now you're an accomplished faller. What next?" I asked. "Well, Angle," Joe said, gazing out the hospital window, "I'm thinking of taking up this new sport I heard about. Not too many people are trying it. Practically everyone and his brother has taken up falling . . ." "And what is that?" "Parachute-less skydiving."

The Story Of Calloway County

1822-1976 By Dorothy and Kerby Jennings

Copyright, 1978

The sorghum mill lacked the mobility of the steam thrasher and once its site was chosen it remained for the season. In addition, the two harvests differed. Sorghum cane was cut in late September and early October, depending on the ripening of the succulent stalks. Sorghum also was not as dependent upon the weather for processing as was the wheat crop, for once the cane had been hand-cut with long knives and stripped of fodder, it could be stored for several weeks without deterioration. Many molasses makers would far rather have cane that had been harvested several weeks prior to the cooking down process.

Another characteristic of molasses making that differed from the wheat thrasher events was the fact the sorghum maker retained a permanent work gang rather than a cooperative neighborhood crew, although both did compensate their processor on a share basis, that is for each bushel threshed, a portion went to the owner of the thrasher, and the sorghum man took a jug for his share while the owner of the cane took a jug. Power for the sorghum mill originated with a mule pulling a landyard hewn from a tree having about a 90 degree bend, thus allowing the mule to walk in a continuous circle.

Juice from the mill passed down a chute into a vat, which was also attached to the molasses pan, connected by a valve intake that provided the molasses maker to control the flow of liquid from the vat reservoir to the cooking pan. The cooker was approximately 8 feet long with a huge firepot underneath where wood was used as a source of energy. When the sap entered the pan steam boiled skyward into the brisk air while the lasses maker stirred and skimmed the boiling juice. As the water evaporated, the juice thickened, then released from compartment to compartment, depending on the cooking down process by the lifting of gates to permit the flow. Near the end of the process wooden paddles were used to keep the molasses from scorching until it was released to flow into jugs with corncob stoppers.

A skimming hole was always dug near the head of the cook pan where the maker sieved off the green skim and flirited it into the hole. Usually dug three or four feet deep, also as round, the skimming hole rapidly filled to the surface of the ground, thus scarcely discernable to a hapless bystander from the surrounding earth. To accidentally walk into the skimming hole was always a source of merriment for sorghum mill hands and a topic for many laughs around log fireplaces in subsequent evenings. Fortunately for the youngsters, molasses provided the sugary substance for moulding popcorn balls, a popular confection piled high on the kitchen table, an excellent goodie for play parties.

Growing Up In Christ

By H.C. Chiles

The title of this lesson suggests one of the greatest needs of Christians today. As they pass from their spiritual immaturity to growth in grace and in the knowledge of Christ, their Lord is pleased and their lives are enriched.

Philippians 3:12-16

Here we are told the secret of the life of the greatest Christian who ever lived. He informs us that, while he was on a mission of persecution, Christ laid hold on him for a definite purpose, namely, to save his soul, to transform his life, to divert his great minister and mighty missionary out of him. He yielded to that loving grasp, gave himself wholeheartedly to Christian service, and wielded a tremendous influence for good.

As the end of his career was approaching, and he was thinking about his accomplishments, Paul indicated that he was not satisfied with what he had done for his Lord, who had done so much for him, but wanted to do far more for Christ. His ruling passion was to get nearer to Christ, to grow in His grace and knowledge, to be more like Him, and to do more and better work for Him. Paul informed his readers that he was devoted to a single aim. He said, "This one thing I do." With words and by actions he urged all Christians to have a definite and high aim, and then to concentrate all of life's energies on reaching it. As he ran the race of life, he did not have the time or the inclination to look back or to one side, but he persisted with strenuous and unceasing activity in bearing down upon the goal and winning the prize. With him the most important thing was pleasing the Lord.

Paul exhorted the Christians in the church at Philippi to be united in their thinking as they aspired to become spiritually mature (verse 15), and to abide by the same rules as they advanced toward Christlikeness (verse 16). Perseverance toward the goal of Christlikeness is both challenging and rewarding.

1 John 4:13-21

John wanted his readers to know that they were the objects of God's wonderful, yet almost incredible love. God's marvelous love has been revealed in many ways, but never so fully as when He sent Christ to be the propitiation for our sins. Christ expressed His love for us by dying in our stead, in order that we might have life through him. Having become the recipients of His love, we should love Him supremely.

God's love is not passive, but active. To be born of God is to possess His nature. If one does not love, it is clear that he has never known God experientially. It is very important that we prove our Christian sonship by our genuine love for others. Love enables the Christian to overcome fear.

God's love for us precedes and is the cause of our love for Him. Because of His love for us we should love God supremely and devotedly. We can reveal our love for Him by thinking about Him — His will, His Word, and His way for us. We express our love for Him through telling others about His Son and our Saviour — the beauty of His Character, the sinlessness of His life, the wonder of His salvation, the joy of His fellowship, and the glorious hope of His return. Unquestioning and wholehearted obedience to God's commandments is the best evidence of our love for Him. If we love God, we will love our fellow-Christians. A Christ-centered and Spirit-filled life is the supreme expression of love for God. It is also the greatest contribution we can make to the progress of the kingdom of God.

Washington Today

Campaign Financing

WASHINGTON (AP) — When President Carter made his bid for public financing of congressional election campaigns, he said it would be ironic if moneyed political interests simply shifted their spending from presidential to House and Senate campaigns.

Presidential candidates get federal campaign funds. Congressional candidates don't, and the spending records of the 1978 campaign seem to bear out Carter's concern.

Almost every candidate in the 35 Senate elections of 1978 raised and spent more than would have been allowed by the public finance proposals that failed in the last Congress.

"It would be a tragic irony if the 1974 law which reduced the pressure special interests could place on presidential candidates increased the pressures on candidates for Congress as the large

AN INVESTMENT
IN YOUR FUTURE

Tune in to God

Never before in history have there been so many electronic devices that are used to tune in on a given frequency. Television, stereo, and radios all allow us to hear beautiful music and to see celebrated entertainers. Even in our cars, we can have children's band radios that allow us to talk with people we have never met.

Yet all these modern miracles actually prevent us from hearing the most important sound of our lives. The sound of God's voice speaking to us through His Word.

School Building Authority Looked At As State Tax Cut Money Source

By HERBERT SPARROW

Associated Press Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) —

A legislative subcommittee is looking at the new Kentucky School Building Authority as a possible source of money to fund some tax cuts during the special legislative session.

"We are going to be looking for places to move money from the budget to make tax cuts," Sen. Ed O'Daniel, D-Springfield, said Thursday. "That is what the special session is all about."

"The mood I get is probably some taxes are going to be cut and I have heard considerable discussion that the School Building Authority is the place some of that money should come from," O'Daniel said.

However, the acting director of the authority warned the subcommittee of which O'Daniel is a member that removing the $7 million appropriated to the authority for the next fiscal year "would leave local districts in a terrible situation."

"In my judgment, this is not a good place to cut money," Arnold Guess told a joint House-Senate subcommittee on educational program oversight.

Guess said there is a large backlog of needed educational buildings that have not been built. He also said many districts are facing financial difficulties in renovating buildings to meet federal and state standards for fire safety and access to the handicapped.

"If you don't continue the program, I feel you will have some schools close," Guess said. "You must understand the needs are very real out there."

The School Building Authority was created by the 1978 General Assembly and given $7 million for the 1979-80 fiscal year to pay debt service on bonds issued to help local school districts construct buildings.

Guess estimated the $7 million could generate up to $80 million in bonds, which would be distributed to school districts through a formula based on need, student growth and past effort.

Guess said it is assumed the Legislature will have to appropriate $7 million for each year of the bond issues to cover the debt service.

O'Daniel and Sen. Joe Wright, D-Harned, said they had doubts about the backlog of construction needs portrayed by Guess.

"I have never felt any great outcry from superintendents about any need for expanding facilities," Wright said. "I think we are going to be looking long and hard at that $7 million."

"It is concrete, there where we can get our hands on," he said. "It has not been there before and has no track record."

O'Daniel said he had also been misled during the regular session about how the $7 million was to be distributed and he did not understand it would create a long-term debt upon the state.

Gale Bowen, finance director for the state Department of Education, warned that cutting the $7 million might require the Legislature to make a similar appropriation to fund vocational education construction.

He said the normal appropriation for vocational buildings, about $7 million, was not made for the next fiscal year with the idea that the building authority funds would be used for that purpose.

Cambodia To Be In Hands Of Vietnamese By End Of Week

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) —

Heavy fighting and dead Chinese were reported in northwestern Cambodia near the Thai border today, but observers predicted all of the country will be in the hands of the Vietnamese and their Cambodian allies before the end of the week.

The Vietnamese invaded Cambodia Christmas Day, installed a new Cambodian Communist government in Phnom Penh, the capital on Sunday. They captured Siem Reap and laid siege to Battambang in the northwest Thursday, sending holdouts of the toppled regime fleeing toward the Thai border.

A Cambodian soldier who escaped told Thai border police heavy fighting was still going on along the road from Battambang to the Thai frontier and that he had seen many dead Chinese. About 600 Chinese advisers to the fallen government had been reported in the area seeking transit through Thailand to Peking.

Vietnamese tanks and infantry were reported moving along the highway from Sisophon, a road junction some 31 miles from the Thai border. Intelligence sources said large numbers of Cambodian army soldiers had fled to the border area.

About 20 Vietnamese tanks and an unknown number of troops of the new Cambodian government were sighted earlier south of Poipet, the main border crossing point, and the Thai government sent troop reinforcements to the area in case the fighting spilled over the border and to prevent defeated troops from entering.

However, the Thai government said it would grant transit to top officials of the fallen regime, and on Thursday, two Thai helicopters whisked former Deputy Premier Ieng Sary, his wife and daughter, former Social Action Minister Khieu Thirith and seven others from Poipet to Bangkok.

They were immediately flown to Hong Kong, and a motorcade took them across the border today to Canton, where they could catch a plane for Peking.

The fate of former Premier Pol Pot and former President Khieu Samphan was not known, but the latter and about 500 other officials of the old regime were reported to have asked Thailand for transit to China.

Thai and Western intelligence sources say the Cambodian blitz was pulled off by an estimated 100,000 Vietnamese troops, backed by tanks, longrange artillery and squadrons of jet fighters and bombers, and that most of the mopping up was done by the rebel Cambodian Communist organization that Hanoi sponsored, the Kampuchean United Front.

They said most of the heavy fighting and Cambodian army casualties occurred around Christmas, near the Vietnamese border but inside Cambodia, with Hanoi's troops sucking in as many Cambodian units as possible and decimating them with air and ground attacks.

RESOLUTION ON PORNOGRAPHY

The Ministers of the Murray-Calloway County Ministerial Association, are concerned for the redemption of persons in our community. The Murray-Calloway County Ministerial Association wishes to affirm its understanding of man as a morally free agent and its belief that no one individual or group should force its own unique ideas on another individual or group to the restriction of the individual or group freedoms.

While we are aware of the freedom of speech guaranteed by our constitution, as well as the difficulties involved in censorship, we are concerned with the sale of pornographic materials in our community in the form of magazines, books, movies, television, and radio. Pornography has been defined as "The commercial exploitation of sex designed to stimulate sexual excitement, with special reference to abnormalities and perversions."

("Pornography: The Longford Report," Coronet Books, Hodder Paperbacks, Ltd., London 1972).

PORNOGRAPHY IS TO BE REJECTED FOR MANY REASONS. HERE ARE SEVERAL:

1. Pornography often blocks healthier relations between human beings. Pornography exploits a fantasy world of sexual satisfaction and blocks a deeper level of sexual intimacy made possible when married couples know each other most fully.
2. Pornography sometimes prods troubled persons to commit anti-social acts. Common sense informs us that just as legitimate advertising influences us to act to buy consumer products, so do ideas for sale in pornography have an impact on the values and behavior of persons.
3. Pornography leads to a breakdown of moral values in society. Pornography distorts a healthy understanding of sex, demeans the family, debases human beings, and ignores the place of love in sexual relations.
4. From a Christian point of view, the treatment of sex in pornography is especially damaging to individuals.
 - A. In pornography sex is tied to a fantasy world; a Christian view prepares one to see sex as a part of the real world created by God.
 - B. In pornography sex is limited almost entirely to its physical dimension; a Christian view understands sex as an aspect of personhood which permeates our total being.
 - C. Pornography advocates no controls on sexual expression, thus sowing seeds for moral anarchy; in a Christian view, the power of sex is recognized, and responsible controls are called for.
 - D. In pornography sex is associated with destructive, sick humor; a Christian view links sex with wholesome joy and laughter.
 - E. Pornography presents an inaccurate view of the male and female; Christianity offers an understanding of the male and female as God's creatures.
 - F. Pornography really portrays not relationships but the proximity of bodies; a Christian view calls for a covenant relationship in which a married couple can share the totality of life's experiences from giving birth to facing death.
 - G. Pornography often links sex to perversion, pain, torture, and sadism; in a Christian view sex is related to wholesome pleasure.
 - H. Pornography ignores the mystery of sex; a Christian view recognizes that sex cannot be fully appreciated apart from its mystery.

In an effort to make our community a better place in which to live and rear our families, the Murray-Calloway County Ministerial Association urges merchants to eliminate pornography.

(The above resolution was unanimously adopted by the Murray-Calloway County Ministerial Association, January 3, 1978.)

Mann, Jackson Lifted From Racer Basketball Squad

And then there were 11. That's how many players remain on the roster of the Murray State basketball team after an announcement from the Racer sports information office today.

Allen Mann, a 6-5 junior reason. He rejoined the squad Thursday, however. Jackson was the only player on the squad who had failed to score a point this season. He had played 46 minutes, the second-lowest amount of time on the team.

to Murray from North Carolina State in 1976 and sat out the 1976-77 season.

Mann, a husky 210-pounder from Detroit, was selected the top junior-college player in Michigan last year at Oakland. He had started several games this season and had 5.8 scoring and 3.6 rebounding averages.

The exit of the two players brought the number of players now not on the original roster to four. Sophomore returnee Robert Kelly left the squad early in the year because of an apparent lack of playing time, and leading-scorer Roy Taylor was declared academically ineligible for the spring semester late in December.

Of the 11 remaining players, only three — Harvey McNeal, Tom Adams and Lowry — are true guards. Tom Leffler, a 6-4 senior, has started two games at that spot, though he is listed as a forward.

The Racers, 2-11, open their Ohio Valley Conference season at Morehead Saturday afternoon in a game that will be televised regionally.

The OVC... 'Exhibition Season' Completed, Murray Tries The Conference

By TONY WILSON
Sports Editor

"It's been a rough exhibition schedule," Murray State basketball Coach Ron Greene has said on numerous occasions, but the Racers can forget all that beginning the Racers. Hammonds scored 10 first-half points in Murray's loss to Louisiana Tech last Wednesday. At the other forward will be Keith Oglesby, and John Randall will open at center. Guards will be Harvey McNeal and David Lowry.

The OVC doesn't appear to overly-strong this season, at least judging by the schools' success thus far. The seven league universities — Akron, the newest member, won't be counted in league standings until next season — have a combined record of just 41-44.

Eastern Kentucky, the preseason pick to capture the OVC title, leads the conference with a 1-0 mark after defeating a talented Middle Tennessee squad on its home court Monday.

narrow decisions to the Hilltoppers. The former fell 56-53, while the latter succumbed 63-60.

Middle Tennessee has won the league's regular-season title two of the past four seasons, but it took a step in the wrong direction by losing to Eastern.

Austin Peay is tied with Eastern with its 1-0 league mark, but the Governors are only 7-6 overall. Alfred Barney, a 6-4 senior-guard, is pumping in points at the rate of 19.1 a game, up nearly 16 points from his average last season. 6-4 sophomore Tim Thomas is second with a 13.0 mark.

Tennessee Tech appears to be the weak sister of the league, though the Racers' record may enable Tech fans to say the same about Murray. The Golden Eagles are 4-1 at home, but winless in seven trips on the road.

Top returnee Marc Burnett, a 6-3 sophomore guard, was lost for the season after a knee injury in Tech's second game. Eagles averaging in double figures include Jimmy Howell (15.0), Paul Chadwell (12.4) and Pete Abuls (12.2).

The Murray-Morehead game (Ch. 2, Nashville) will be the first of a series of OVC Saturday contests to be regionally-televised.

The four schools with the best league record will advance to the OVC tournament in early March to vie for the NCAA post-season berth. The regular-season champion will host the event.

Wayne Martin

Saturday at 12:30 p.m.

Murray opens its Ohio Valley Conference season then, hoping to do more than win its first league game at Morehead. It also hopes OVC success will help heal the wounds of a 2-11 preconference won-lost mark, the latest stab a 109-88 loss to Louisiana Tech Wednesday.

Morehead, which finished 0-14 in the league last season, lost a heart-breaking 99-97 game to Middle Tennessee in double overtime to open its conference schedule last Saturday.

Senior guard Herbie Stamper led the league in scoring last season with a 24.6 mark and is back for what seems like his umpteenth season. The steady performer has scored at a 16.6 clip thus far this year as the Eagles have won 5 of 11 games.

"You've got to win all of them at home to win this conference," said Morehead Coach Wayne Martin. Saturday's game, then, as important as it is to the Racers, is almost a MUST one for the Eagles. Martin is in his first season as Morehead coach.

Morehead's starting lineup will consist of five Kentuckians, the first time a Kentucky school has accomplished that feat since Western Kentucky did it in the Jim McDaniels era, says Morehead sports information director Jim Wells.

Other Eagle starters and their averages include Norris Beckley, 12.3; Charlie Clay, 10.8; Greg Coldiron, 10.6; and Glen Napier, 8.9. Clay, a 6-7 center, leads the squad in rebounding with a 7.4 average.

Murray, without the services of Allen Mann, will have a new face in the starting lineup. Mann, who started several games at forward this season, was dropped from the roster after extended training-rule violations.

Kenney Hammonds, a 6-5 freshman from Cincinnati, will open at one forward for

However, the Lakers' games — boys and girls varsity — were cancelled because of a still-slick parking lot at Lowes high school, a school official said.

Northern Belts Murray Women To 1-3 In KWIC

HIGHLAND HEIGHTS, Ky. — What a difference a month makes...for Northern Kentucky, that is. It defeated the Murray State women only 74-72 on Dec. 11, but one would hardly have known that last night.

Northern placed five players in double figures as the Norsewomen drubbed the Racers 95-52 to hand Murray its second-straight loss and even its season mark to 6-6.

Even more importantly, the Racers slumped to 1-3 in the Kentucky Women's Intercollegiate Conference, while Northern is now 6-0 in conference play and 10-1 overall.

Laura Lynn paced Murray with 23 points, and Jackie Mounts added 11 and gathered 18 rebounds. Cindy Barrix, with 10 points, was the only other double-figure scorer for Murray.

Monica Pellman's 14 points was high for Northern, though Barb Harkins (12), Peggy Vincent (12), Brenda Ryan (12) and Jenny Nehaus (11) were close behind.

The primary difference between last night and the two teams' first meeting was that crucial field-goal shooting mark. The Racers sank 49 percent of their attempts in their two-point loss, but the cold shooting last night enabled Northern to jump to a 46-22 lead at the half.

During the first 20 minutes, Murray hit only 9-of-32 tries, a paltry 28 percent.

Other statistical categories were almost even. The Racers women connected on 8-of-13 free throws — Northern was 9-of-14.

Rebounding? Northern led 50-42. Murray committed 16 fouls to Northern's 15.

The Racers will join the men for a two-game swing against Morehead Saturday and Eastern Kentucky Monday. The Murray women's next home game will be Jan. 20, when they take on Western Kentucky.

McEnroe 'Blisters' Connors; Masters Policy Questioned

By the Associated Press
NEW YORK — Bjorn Borg and Guillermo Vilas refused to play in the Masters Grand Prix, but their ghosts spooked the tournament directors and wrecked Jimmy Connors' chance to defend his title in the $400,000 event.

The long-awaited match between the No. 1 ranked Connors and upstart John McEnroe was not the fight to the finish everyone anticipated Thursday night. Connors was forced to retire, with McEnroe leading 7-5, 3-0, because he had a painful blood blister at the beginning of the large toe of his left foot.

McEnroe now moves into Saturday's semifinals along with Arthur Ashe, Brian Gottfried and Eddie Dibbs. The retirement is treated like a default, meaning Connors couldn't continue in the eightman round-robin event, and that's where the specter of Borg and Vilas cast a shadow over this tournament.

In last year's Masters, with their inclusion into the semifinals already assured, Borg came down with the flu and Vilas came up with an ankle injury, both defaulting meaningless round-robin matches. The maladies, considered suspicious by fans and tournament officials, gave the two stars an extra day's rest before the semifinals.

The outcry convinced tournament officials to change the rules this time. Now, if any player does not begin and finish any match for any reason, he is automatically eliminated from the rest of the tournament.

"We feel we put in a totally objective rule," said Ray Benton, the tournament director. "It's unfortunate when Jimmy Connors played hurt, played his heart out and is still forced out of the tournament. But we just didn't want to get into the business of making a medical judgment." Connors said his foot had become soft because his last tournament match was Dec. 9. While practicing, he hurt the foot four or five days ago and aggravated it early in the McEnroe match. "After four or five games, I was walking on the side of my foot," said Connors, who limped through most of the match.

With the elimination, Ashe, who qualified for this elite tourney because Vilas and Borg refused to come, gets a victory over Connors without lifting his racket.

Connors made it clear that his efforts in full view of an appreciative Madison Square Garden audience were not the same as the suspicious ailments sustained by Borg and Vilas, and deserved different treatment.

Carr, Lanier Warm Pistons

By the Associated Press
It took M.L. Carr and Bob Lanier a while to warm up Thursday night — shucks, it took everyone a while to warm up in the frigid Pontiac Silverdome — but when they did the Detroit Pistons began cooking on all cylinders.

Carr scored 17 of his 23 points in the second half and Lanier got 12 of his 18 after the intermission in leading Detroit to a 104-101 triumph over the Portland Trail Blazers that snapped the Pistons' six-game losing streak.

The Silverdome was cold with the thermometer in the low 50s — it was near zero outside — because of a condensation problem under the dome.

Elsewhere, George Gervin pumped in 52 points as the San Antonio Spurs flogged the San Diego Clippers 140-111, the Seattle SuperSonics edged the Phoenix Suns 109-106 and the Kansas City Kings turned back the Golden State Warriors 94-89.

Detroit moved ahead of Portland for good by scoring the last six points of the third period on two free throws by Lanier, John Long's slam dunk and two foul shots.

Sugar Ray Kayos Gant In Eighth

By the Associated Press

LANDOVER, Md. — Olympic gold medalist Sugar Ray Leonard remains on the trail for a title fight after winning his 18th in a row with a technical knockout of veteran Johnny Gant.

"This was better than six months in the gym," said Angelo Dundee, manager of the unbeaten Leonard after the scheduled 12-round bout was stopped at 2:57 of the eighth round Thursday. "I'm very happy with the experience."

Dundee would say only that Leonard's next fight will be Feb. 11 in Miami Beach and that he, Dundee, will be in Puerto Rico Sunday to see Carlos Palomino, World Boxing Council welterweight champion, defend his title.

NEW YORK — Linebacker Randy Gradishar of the American Conference West Division champion Denver Broncos was named The Associated Press 1978 Defensive Player of the Year in the National Football League.

The five-year NFL veteran was named on 30 of 84 ballots cast by a nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters, three from each league city.

Calloway Sweeps Two From Murray

Jimmy Bynum pumped in 22 points to help the Calloway County junior-varsity squad to a 58-50 victory and a sweep of a basketball doubleheader at the Murray High Gymnasium last night.

In the opening contest, Dan Key scored 20 points to enable the Lakers to nip the Tigers 42-40.

The Calloway JV's led 45-36 after three quarters and were able to maintain that lead through most of the final period. Gary Emerson and Terry Paschall added 11 and 9 points, respectively, for the winners, who won their seventh game against a single loss. Guy Furr paced the Tigers with 19 points, while Robin Roberts tossed in 11 and Greg Daniel added 9.

Larry Sanders pulled down 14 rebounds for the Lakers in a reserve role.

The Calloway frosh led 34-26 at the half and, though Murray High outscored them 14-8 over the final two periods, the Lakers held on for their seventh victory in nine games. Ronnie Pace led the Tigers

Top Ranking Now Up For Grabs

Illini Topple No. 1 Michigan State

HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

AP Sports Writer

The No. 1 college basketball ranking is up for grabs again...and come Saturday, Illinois just might claim it.

In a clash of Big Ten powers, the unbeaten and fourth-ranked Fighting Illini upended No. 1-rated Michigan State 57-55 at Champaign, Ill., Thursday night when sophomore Eddie Johnson popped in a 20-foot jump shot from the right corner with three seconds left.

"If we can beat Ohio State Saturday, we should be No. 1," said Johnson.

"I know we are not No. 1," conceded Michigan State Coach Jud Heathcote.

Meanwhile, 16th-ranked Michigan also hit the road, only to find the road hitting back. The Wolverines dropped a 77-67 Big Ten decision to Purdue at West Lafayette, Ind.

The only other member of The Associated Press Top Twenty to see action was No. 19 Long Beach State. The 49ers whipped the University of California-Irvine 83-58 in their Pacific Coast Athletic Association opener.

In boosting its record to 15-0, Illinois won a jump ball with 40 seconds left and ran the clock-down until the game-winning buzzer by Johnson, who led the Illini with 16 points.

"I just knew I had to take the shot and it went up and I felt good," said Johnson. "I've got confidence in my shot and I took it."

Johnson also pulled down 13 rebounds to help the Illini to an overwhelming 50-22 advantage in that department.

"The fellows did a lot better on the boards than I thought they could," said Coach Lou Henson. "The rebounds and defense won the game for us."

Michigan State had a 24-13 lead midway through the first half but trailed 32-28 at the intermission, managing only six points in the final 11 1/2 minutes of the half.

"There was a lack of movement," said Spartan ace Earvin Johnson. "Somebody would drive and stop and then nobody else would move." Greg Kelsor of the Spartans took game honors with 23 points.

Michigan and Purdue were tied for the 14th time 52-52 with eight minutes left when Arnette Hallman of the Boilermakers made a three-point play that started a string of eight consecutive points. Jerry Sichting led the winners with 24 points, including 10-of-10 free throws in the second half.

Joe Barry Carroll, Purdue's 7-foot-1 center, scored 14 points, grabbed 13 rebounds and got Michigan's Phil Hubbard in foul trouble. Hubbard picked up his fourth foul with 14:39 remaining.

"Our game plan included getting the ball to Carroll underneath and to get Hubbard in foul trouble," Purdue Coach Lee Rose said.

Rickey Williams scored 20 points and Francois Wise added 16 to pace Long Beach State's romp over UC-Irvine. The 49ers led 34-23 at halftime and poured it on in the second half.

Elsewhere:
—In other Big Ten games, 6-11 Kevin McHale's 26 points led Minnesota over Indiana 80-63, Kelvin Ransey's 24 points sparked Ohio State over Iowa 72-67 and Wisconsin scored 12 straight points in the second half to beat Northwestern 95-82.

Auburn made it seven victories in a row over Georgia, downing the Bulldogs 84-77 in a Southeastern Conference game behind Bobby Cottage's 27 points and Bubba Price's 25. In another SEC contest, Reggie Johnson and Howard Wood split 50 points to lead Tennessee past Florida 116-73.

It was the most points ever against the Gators. Also, Ray White's 27 points led Mississippi State over Mississippi 101-92 in double overtime, despite 42 points by the losers' John Stroud.

—In Southwest Conference action, Texas Tech erased an 11-point first-half deficit and overtook Baylor 80-76 to take over first place with a 3-0 record.

—Drake surged to a 15-point halftime bulge and then held on to nip Bradley 73-71 while Steve McDowell had 23 points as Tulsa defeated Southern Illinois 93-86 in Missouri Valley Conference games.

—In Western Athletic Conference action, four players scored in double figures to help Brigham Young beat Texas-El Paso 80-56 — the Cougars led by only 55-50 with eight minutes left — and Greg Deane scored a career-high 35 points to lead Utah past New Mexico 101-90.

—Washington State survived the first-half ejection of 7-2 James Donaldson for a flagrant foul and whipped Stanford 72-52 in Pacific-10 play.

—Tico Brown scored 12 points in the first half and Sammy Drummer added 12 in the second half to lead Georgia Tech past Western Carolina 72-50.

—Delmar Harrod scored the last two of his 22 points on a driving shot with four seconds left to give St. Bonaventure a 77-76 victory over Duquesne.

—Daryl Strickland scored all of his 13 points in the second half, leading Rutgers past George Washington 80-72 and Nick Galis' 30 points paced Seton Hall over Providence 80-68.

—A 69-point second half paced Holy Cross to a 113-89 rout of Assumption behind Ronnie Perry's 30-point effort.

Hardest Decision

Earl Bruce to Succeed Hayes As Ohio State Coach

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Ohio —

Former Iowa State Coach Earl Bruce, after making what he called the hardest decision of his life, today becomes Ohio State's 20th football coach, following in the footsteps of the legendary Woody Hayes.

An Ohio State spokesman, who asked not to be identified, said the selection of Bruce, 47, Iowa State's mentor for six years, would be announced at a 2 p.m. EST news conference.

The Ohio State official said Bruce's resignation at Iowa State, announced Thursday by that school's president, Robert Parks, was a stepping stone toward the new job.

Bruce, because of a state law, can only be hired for one year as a state university employee. His salary will be between $35,000 and $45,000, plus an in-season weekly television show and other benefits.

Hugh Hindman, the Buckeyes' athletic director, neither confirmed nor denied the selection of Bruce. Both served as assistants on the same Hayes staffs for four seasons from 1966 through 1969.

Iowa State University assistant coaches and players also confirmed Bruce was leaving the Cyclones to return to Ohio to succeed his former boss.

Before Hayes was fired for hitting a Clemson player in the Gator Bowl Dec. 29, Hayes directed the Buckeyes to two national titles, 13 Big Ten championships or co-championships, 11 bowl trips and a record of 205-61-10 in 28 seasons.

Wayne Stanley, a current Iowa State assistant, said Bruce asked Jim Williams, Steve Szabo and himself to join the new Ohio State staff during a meeting Thursday.

Stanley told the Cedar Rapids (Iowa) Gazette that Bruce would not have left Iowa State if he did not have the right to hire all of his assistants at Ohio State.

The Cumberland, Md.,

native was recruited by Hayes as a Maryland all-state halfback, but an injury cut short Bruce's college playing career.

He is a 1953 Ohio State graduate and served as an assistant coach under Hayes from 1966 through 1971.

Bruce's first venture into college head coaching was a 10-2-0 performance at the University of Tampa, including a Tangerine Bowl victory over Kent State in 1972.

Mahaffey Leads Pack

By BOB GREEN

AP Golf Writer

PALM-SPRINGS, Calif. —

John Mahaffey took a philosophic view of the situation.

"For a long time," he said, "I had what they call the fear of winning. I thought I was good enough, but I wasn't sure I was ready."

There's little doubt of it now. He reeled off an improbable string of seven birdies — one short of the all-time PGA Tour record — on the way to another 6-under-par 66 that gave him a two-shot lead after 36 holes of the five-day, 90-hole Bob Hope Desert Classic.

"It must be something like what (Johnny) Miller had going a few years ago," Mahaffey said Thursday. "I could see the line. I was hitting the ball solid and the putts just kept going in the hole."

His spectacular effort at La Quinta gave him a two-round total of 132, a whopping 12 shots under par after playing the two toughest of the four desert courses used for the first four rounds of this event. The format calls for the pros to play one round on each of the four courses each day with a different team of amateurs before the final round Sunday at Indian Wells.

Art Wall, grinding away in his 31st year of tour activity, coaxed in a wide-breaking, uphill, 30-foot birdie putt on the final hole at Bermuda Dunes to complete a 67 that gave him a 134 and second place.

Wells Asks Media To Withhold Truth

By HERBERT SPARROW

Associated Press Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) —

State Rep. Dwight Wells, D-

Richmond, believes the news media should act as a parent to the people of Kentucky and keep the truth away from them when it might be painful.

In a speech on the floor of the House Thursday, Wells

also suggested that a law should be passed to require all members of the news media to have a seal of the Commonwealth of Kentucky and its motto "United We Stand, Divided We Fall," in front of them at all times.

"I want to say this to the news media," Wells said.

"You are to the people of Kentucky what a parent is to a child.

"You say you shall not tell the people a lie, but must tell them the truth at all times," said Wells, a member of the House leadership as majority whip.

"A good parent doesn't tell his child a lie, but he doesn't always tell the truth when it is harmful to the child," he said.

"Not only does he not tell the truth but he tries to keep him from knowing.

"When the truth is harmful and detrimental to the people of Kentucky you should not only not tell them the truth,

but you have a duty to see they do not know the truth," Wells said.

Wells said members of the news media should consider the state motto each time they begin to act.

"When you start to write,

read or act, you can ask yourself, 'Is what I'm doing, saying or writing uniting the people of Kentucky and helping them stand and be great or is what I am writing, saying or doing dividing the people of the Commonwealth and causing them to fall and be weak."

"If you can't accept the responsibility of responsible reporting with the betterment of the people of Kentucky in mind, you should lay down your pad and pencil, your microphone and camera and let someone else try," Wells said.

Wells' remarks — which also urged the Legislature to take a more independent stand from the executive and judicial branches — drew standing ovations from several members of the House of Representatives.

Wells claimed that the Legislature would only gain respect when it started using the powers it has.

"If the Legislature has no respect, it is because the General Assembly doesn't use the power it has," Wells said.

"We have been acting like children. When the General Assembly uses the power it has it will have acted like men and women and will have the respect of men and women."

Wells said that would come about only when, "We tell the executive branch we will do the legislating and you do the executing; when we tell the judicial branch we will do the legislating and you will do the interpreting; only when we tell these other people we will do the legislating and you go home and help administer and carry out the programs we have passed for the people of Kentucky."

Still, he has kept a low profile during the first week of the session. He did not deliver any address to a joint session.

That was handled by Mrs.

Stovall.

The appropriations committee extended the invitation

after continuing to struggle with the question of how much, if any, surplus money is available to finance any tax cuts that might be enacted.

It heard from Ken Houpp

of the Office for Policy and Management in the state

Department of Finance, who presented a generally gloomy

but vague fiscal picture.

Rep. Joe Clarke, D-

Danville, A&R chairman, asked Houpp to come back next week with harder data.

As Houpp outlined the situation, there is about $23.5

million in surplus money in the General Fund, which finances most state government operations, this fiscal year.

But, Houpp cautioned, there are claims on that surplus that could make it vanish under given circumstances.

For example, he said, about

$13 million has been set aside for possible payment of claims against the state in two areas

— the Beverly Hills Super

Club fire and the bankruptcy of two savings and loan companies at Louisville which affected thousands of investors and savings holders.

Houpp also mentioned something new — a $2.5

million deficit expected this year in the Minimum Foundation Program under which the state finances public schools.

He told reporters later the deficit popped up only last week.

Clarke commented that it seems strange some of the projected deficits have come up during the special session.

He and Rep. Bob Jones, D-

Crestwood, said the Beverly Hills cases could drag on for years without the state paying anything until a final settlement.

Adams also disclosed that the Department for Human Resources will spend $10 million less than anticipated.

Houpp said he had not figured that windfall in his current calculations about the status of the surplus.

Mrs. Stovall has said $96 million can be used without severe spending cuts for what she estimates is $73 million that would finance her tax programs.

Gov. Carroll To Address Committee

By SY RAMSEY

Associated Press Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) —

Gov. Julian Carroll was scheduled today to assume his first active role in the special legislative session — an address to the Joint Committee on Appropriations and

Revenue after the General

Assembly adjourns for the weekend.

The appearance was arranged at the suggestion of

Rep. Buddy Adams, D-

Bowling Green, who made the motion to invite the governor to speak.

Adams said Carroll would accept and indicated he would answer questions about fiscal matters from committee members.

The committee decided to make the affair a public hearing in the House chamber.

The Senate Democratic

caucus already has invited

Carroll to speak, Adams said,

but that meeting will be closed to everybody else.

Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall

called the current special session for consideration of tax relief, and Carroll denounced her action — taken in his absence from the state

last November — as irresponsible and political.

She is a Democratic candidate for governor.

The governor added 15

items, mainly of a technical or minor nature, to the six she originally listed.

Mistrial In Goins Case Is Denied

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) —

A mistrial in the case of

Franklin County Judge-

Executive Jack Goins has been denied by Special Circuit

Judge James Keller.

Special prosecutor Frank

Truist asked for the mistrial

Thursday because Goins allegedly spoke to and shook hands with a juror during a trial recess Wednesday.

The motion was debated in the chambers of Keller, a

Fayette judge who repeatedly has admonished jurors to avoid contact with participants in the trial.

Then testimony resumed,

with a state auditor's office

aide describing an audit of Goins' office in 1977.

Goins is being tried on charges of theft and misapplication of public funds.

Kristy McNichol Hottest On TV

By JERRY BUCK

AP Television Writer

Who's the hottest young star in television? No contest. It's Kristy McNichol.

She won an Emmy two days after her 15th birthday last year for her role as Buddy on ABC's "Family." One week's salary would just about put her through a prestige private university.

She's been in two TV movies so far this season, and soon she'll star with Tatum O'Neal in the film "Little Darling." Then she makes another movie in her $1 million, five-picture contract with CBS.

She and her brother, Jimmy, have a hot new pop-rock album, and there's talk of a movie with her own idol, John Travolta.

Remember an early episode of "Family," when Kristy took the car out for a spin? She could hardly see over the steering wheel. Kristy, at 16, owns a Champagne Edition Scirocco.

Buddy, who seems just barely into puberty, is suddenly confronted this season with sex. A new boyfriend, played by Leif Garrett, wanted her to sleep with him. She said no, but in "Little Darling," she says yes.

"I think we're handling her growing up realistically," says Kristy, looking like a tiny, brown-eyed fawn. She lives in the San Fernando Valley with her mother, Carolynne, and 17-year-old Jimmy. His acting career has suddenly gotten hot, too, making them a teen-age Jane and Peter Fonda, a Shirley MacLaine and Warren Beatty.

Kristy says her off-camera life isn't that much different from Buddy's. "I date. No one special. I go out with my girl friends."

Gossip had it that she and Leif were seeing each other, but Kristy says, "It was a puton. We went to a party to raise money for the Hollywood sign. People come up to me now and say, 'How's Leif?' He's a nice boy, we get along."

The menus for the various lunchrooms in the city and county schools for the week of Jan. 15 to 19 have been released by Glinda Jeffrey, food supervisor for Murray City, and Joanna Adams, food supervisor for Calloway County. The menus are subject to occasional change due to availability of foods and the weather conditions.

Menus are as follows:

MURRAY CITY

MURRAY HIGH—Monday—fish sandwich or grilled cheese; Tuesday—pizza or hot tamales; Wednesday—spaghetti or ham sandwich; Thursday—pizza or tacos; Friday—roast beef sandwich or sloppy joe. Hamburgers, hot dogs, chili bar, salad bar, and a variety of fruits, vegetables, and salads are featured each day.

MURRAY MIDDLE—Monday—pizza or hot dogs; Tuesday—hamburgers or spaghetti; Wednesday—pizza or grilled cheese; Thursday—hamburgers or tacos; Friday—pizza or vegetable soup. Dessert and a variety of fruits and vegetables are served each day.

ROBERTSON and CARTER—Monday—corn dogs, creamed potatoes, fruit, cookies; Tuesday—macaroni and cheese, green beans, fruit salad, peanut butter cookie; Wednesday—vegetable soup, peanut butter sandwich, orange sections, crackers; Thursday—hamburger, french fries, fruit gelatin, cookie; Friday—pizza, corn, slaw, and cake.

CALLOWAY COUNTY—Monday—hamburger; pizza burgers, ravioli, french fries, corn on cob, Mexican beans, rolls; Tuesday—hamburger, ham and cheese sandwiches, roast beef and gravy, tritators, creamed potatoes, lima beans, rolls; Wednesday—hamburger, bar-b-q sandwich, meat loaf, steamed cabbage, pinto beans, corn bread; Thursday—hamburger, pizza, chili dogs, french fries, green beans, corn-on-cob; Friday—hamburger, taco salad, bar-b-q chicken, french fries, buttered broccoli, baked apples, hot rolls. A variety of salads, desserts, drinks, and a soup and sandwich bar are featured each day.

EAST, NORTH, and SOUTHWEST—Monday—hamburgers or ravioli; Tuesday—hot dogs or hamburger steak; Wednesday—hamburgers or submarines; Thursday—hot dogs or turkey and gravy; Friday—hamburger or chili and pimento cheese sandwich. Milk and a variety of fruits, vegetables and desserts are served each day.

but nothing else.

Her closest friend is named Karen, and is her stand-in on occasion. Karen went with her to Georgia for NBC's "Summer of My German Soldier" and will go with her to Florida for "Little Darling."

"I play a tough tomboy from a poor family," she says, "Tatum is rich and sweet. We meet at a summer camp. We don't like each other at first, then we have a hilarious time."

She says she's met Tatum, an Academy Award winner for "Paper Moon," and "we had a ball together."

It will be Kristy's biggest role yet in a theatrical film. She was Burt Reynolds' daughter in "The End" and had a small role in "Black Sunday" that was cut before the movie was released.

It's been suggested that Kristy is being pushed to do too much too fast. She shakes her head emphatically.

"I always want to do what I do," she says. "My Mom and I talk and she usually goes along. She's never forced me. She's great."

"Mom reads the scripts," Kristy says. "She read 'Summer of My German Soldier.' She said I'd have to go away for a month; but that it would be good for my career to do a film of this kind. I said I didn't want to go away for a month."

A few years ago, she was just another kid. "Nobody knew me. I went to school, football games, came home, watched television, and ate."

"My Mom was working in movies and I said I wanted to work. She started taking me on interviews. I spent a lot of time in traffic. It was a bummer. Then I got a commercial."

More commercials followed, then a regular role on "Apple's Way," guest shots on "The Bionic Woman" and "Starsky and Hutch." That brought her to the attention of Spelling-Goldberg Productions, makers of "Family."

"I don't think I've missed anything in life," Kristy says. "I've gained. I'm learning so much while I'm young. I can relate to young people because I'm young, and I've learned to relate to older people."

"I lead a normal life at home. I swear to God! I lead a normal life. My Mom wouldn't have it any other way."

Demented Radio Catches On

By PETER J. BOYER

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The

disc jockey slips the record onto the turntable, puts needle to groove, and out comes the evening's most requested hit:

"I took my fish head out to see a moo-vie. I didn't have to paa-ay to get it in."

It's time for Demented Radio, and your host for the evening, Dr. Demento!

Demento, known to his mother as Barry Hansen, is a balding, 37-year-old man who makes a living by letting America listen to his records. It's a huge collection, 100,000 or so, and the common denominator is comedy.

Dementia, if you prefer. Hansen hosts a nationally syndicated radio show featuring records you don't ordinarily hear on commercial radio; or anywhere else, for that matter. It's not exactly the Top 100.

Included in his collection — "Fish Heads," with the catchy lyric above, "Flying Purple People Eaters" and the memorable 1895 Dan Quinn recording, "Henrietta, Have You Met Her?"

"The purpose of my show is to relax you and get your mind off your troubles for a couple of hours," Hansen says. "I play demented music."

"I play records with no regard whatsoever as to whether they're available in record stores. That's different from most radio shows, which work hand in hand with the record companies, and all you hear are the hit records."

Many of Dr. Demento's best songs are homemade tapes, sent to him by fans with a flair for strange.

"On the national show, the No. 1 hit is a homemade tape called 'My Dead Dog Rover,' a song that kiddies have been singing for years."

He promptly launches into the first verse, set to the tune of "I'm Looking Over a Four-Leaf Clover":

Remember, this is demented radio.

"That's typical of what I do," he says proudly. "That song is by Stu, Dave and Hank."

Hansen became Dr. Demento in the early 70s, back in the beginning days of "underground FM stations," which bucked the usual Top-40 radio format by playing long cuts, and hip, sometimes obscure artists.

Hansen was working as a record company editor when a disc jockey who'd heard of Hansen's collection asked him to do a guest spot on a local underground station here.

"I played some of my crazy old records and it lit up the phones, as they say in radio. So, I was asked back again and again and it eventually led to my own show."

Abolishment Of Fuel Adjustment Clause Recommended By Attorney

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The attorney general has recommended that the Legislature abolish the fuel adjustment clause, but the Public Service Commission says there's no reasonable way to do away with it.

PSC Executive Director Perry White told the joint Committee on Public Utilities and Transportation Thursday that any proposal to abolish the clause — through which utilities recover higher costs — must be based on the assumption that the cost of fuel has stabilized.

"The commission doesn't know of any responsible way to abolish it as long as coal hearings on whether to do away with the controversial prices have not stabilized," White said.

He said utility bills would not decrease if the clause were abolished, and indications are that consumers would pay more. Abolishing the clause offers consumers false hope that their utility bills would decrease, he said.

However, Glenda Beard, director of the Attorney General's Consumer Intervention Division, said the Legislature should abolish the fuel clause because it takes away utilities' incentive to find the lowest fuel prices.

She and White were among several witnesses testifying on the final day of committee hearings.

Besides taking away the utilities' incentive to find the lowest prices and encouraging waste, Ms. Beard said the fuel clause alters existing rates solely on the basis of the cost of coal — without regard to the companies' profit margin.

She said the clause denies consumers due process because there is no opportunity for public hearings before each rate change; that it shifts the burden of proof of reasonableness of rates from utilities to the PSC and consumers; that it gives undue consideration to a single cost item which could distort the relationship of rates to costs, and that it may bias the selection of fuels or production methods in favor of costs covered by the fuel clause.

If the Legislature decides not to abolish the clause, then it should enact legislation giving the Consumer Intervention Division power to petition the PSC to suspend and investigate new rates resulting from operation of the fuel clause, she said.

Asked what legislators can do to lower utility costs, Ms. Beard said anything the General Assembly can do to hold down utility construction costs will hold down utility rates.

She said for example that the Legislature could force utilities into pooling their budgets or establish time of day and seasonal rates to encourage energy conservation and reduce peak load periods. She explained that electric utilities must construct generating plants to handle projected peak loads.

Attorney General Robert Stephens said his office will have legislation introduced this week to give the consumer intervention division more power to investigate utilities.

Several consumers criticized the automatic nature of the fuel adjustment clause. However, PSC attorney Morris Burton said there is nothing "automatic" about it under a new PSC regulation establishing a uniform clause and requirements for pre-filing, contract disclosures and periodic hearings.

Governor Defends Funds For Paducah Golf Course

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Julian Carroll says he would like to see the General Assembly enact laws requiring legislative approval for all capital construction projects. But he thinks the governor should retain as much latitude as possible on spending from the capital contingency fund.

At an informal press conference Thursday, the governor defended spending $250,000 in capital contingency funds to buy property for a Paducah municipal golf course.

Carroll said the money was an advance to local officials and would be repaid from state highway funds once the project is completed and the real cost known.

During a wide-ranging question and answer session with reporters, Carroll said the goals of the special legislative session are minor compared with battles now being fought by the executive branch.

"It is disappointing that they have led the public to believe that large tax reductions are coming and that they're going to benefit," Carroll said.

"If they're not careful, they could be fiddling while Rome burns," Carroll said. The battles he cited are the administration's fight to change proposed federal strip-mine regulations that could add $15 to $18 per ton to the cost of coal; opposition to a 37 percent increase in rail rates, and an effort to block Ohio's freezeout of Kentucky coal.

"If we don't have some success in those projects, electric utility rates will escalate far in excess of anything — the General Assembly could do to reduce them," Carroll said.

The governor, who has been criticized this week for dipping into the capital construction contingency fund for the golfcourse project and for purchase of an $800,000 state airplane, said he never explained that the money for the Paducah project was an advance because he was never asked.

He defended the purchase of the plane on grounds that there is statutory authority for purchase of such equipment from the contingency fund, and that state planes have been purchased that way since 1974.

Carroll said he has made it a policy not to build anything not approved by the Legislature, but said the law ought to be changed to require legislative approval.

However, he said he did not agree with state Auditor George Atkins that funds appropriated for a project but not spent should lapse at the end of the biennium.

He said the governor must have the flexibility to use capital construction funds for authorized projects as he sees fit, moving ahead with one while holding off on another.

Carroll, who met with reporters after a closed door caucus with the Senate, accused Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall of providing inaccurate information to the General Assembly.

He challenged her assertion that $96 million in surplus funds are available to offset tax cuts, and said the rationale for her contention that spending by flood victims would boost the economy through a ripple effect "escapes me."

"If so, we should have more floods. Maybe we ought to ask how much we made off the flood in eastern Kentucky," he said.

University Officials Fear Budget Cuts

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — University officials contend that their budgets should not be cut during the current special legislative session to provide tax relief.

The higher education budget review subcommittee of the Appropriations and Revenue Committee has been looking into possible funding excesses in the $10 million allotment made to the schools from the state's capital construction fund.

University officials told the subcommittee Thursday that no new construction has been undertaken with such funds, but the money has been reserved instead for renovations on campuses to comply with federal regulations.

Such renovations include eliminating barriers to handicapped persons, complying with energy conservation measures and adhering to state and federal building and fire codes.

And the $10 million allotment will not cover estimated renovation costs, according to the school officials.

President John Minton of Western Kentucky University said it would cost $2.5 million just to remove the barriers to handicapped persons, and President Morris Norfleet of Morehead State University said $2 million is needed at his school to meet fire safety and energy codes.

If federal funds are taken away from the University of Louisville because of non-compliance with regulations, it could cost $2.6 million, said President James Miller.

Asked where the General Assembly might be able to make cuts in funding for higher education, most university officials said the only area would be in employees' salaries. But they contended most such workers already are underpaid.

"We would argue strenuously against any budget cuts," said Murray President Constantine Curris. "But if reductions prove to be necessary, we hope that they will not be across the board."

Sen. Robert Martin, D-Richmond, and Rep. Ramsey Morris, D-Hopkinsville, are the two subcommittee members. Martin is a retired president of Eastern Kentucky University.

Order Closing Cellblock At Eddyville Is Sought

EDDYVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A Louisville lawyer representing inmates at the Kentucky State Penitentiary says he will seek a federal court order to close a cellblock at the penitentiary.

Lawyer Oliver H. Barber Jr., who represents inmates who filed a $150 million lawsuit in 1976, said he would file a motion today in U.S. District Court asking that the cellblock be closed. Prison living conditions were a major complaint in the 1976 suit.

The first floor of the cellblock is to be closed and renovated, but overcrowding has forced continued use of the area. Many of the inmates housed there complained Thursday that the cells were almost unbearably cold.

Dewey Sowders, the new superintendent who began his fourth day of work Thursday, said everything possible was being done to make the cellblock warmer.

After a tour of the cellblock with Sowders, Barber said he would ask U.S. District Judge Edward Johnson for a temporary restraining order and an injunction to halt housing of prisoners in the cellblock.

When Corrections Commissioner David Bland announced last summer the cellhouse would be renovated, he said the Eddyville prison population would have to be reduced to below 800 to permit the construction.

On Oct. 25, with state prison inmates being reclassified for transfer mainly to the Kentucky State Reformatory near La Grange, the inmate population dropped to 793. But in November, the total began to rise sharply.

Bland said Thursday the increase was primarily the result of overcrowding at La Grange. He said the first floor of the cellblock is scheduled to be used until the beginning of the renovation, probably March 1.

He said there is no other place to put most of the 124 inmates who are housed there. The prison population totaled 896 Thursday.

Sowders said crews worked until midnight Wednesday putting plastic over the first-floor windows in the cellblock, replacing broken glass and trying to make heaters more efficient. He said electric "salamanders" usually used on construction work would be moved into the corridors of the block.

The Real Estate Professional

The professional real estate broker or salesman is licensed by the Kentucky Real Estate Commission. According to the Real Estate Commission law and regulations it is unlawful for any person to act as a real estate broker or real estate salesman or to advertise or assume to act as such real estate broker or salesman within the Commonwealth of Kentucky, without a license issued by the Kentucky Real Estate Commission.

In order to be a licensed real estate salesperson, it is necessary to have: (1) be at least 18 years of age and have a high school diploma or its equivalent; (2) be trustworthy and competent to transact real estate business; (3) have a knowledge of real estate, construction, and financial terms related to the real estate business; (4) knowledge of the Kentucky Real Estate Commission Rules and Regulations; (5) knowledge and responsibility to complete Listing and Sales Contracts; (6) to have a licensed real estate broker sponsor the application for the salesman's license; (7) pass the Kentucky Real Estate examination.

The Kentucky universities and community colleges offer courses in real estate to help prepare persons for a career in real estate. Murray State University offers several courses during the year in such subjects as: Principles of Real Estate; Real Estate Law; Real Estate Finance; Property Management; Real Estate Appraisals; Real Estate Developments and other related courses. Many of the courses are offered as evening courses. There are also several private schools in Louisville and Lexington that offer instruction in real estate.

The Kentucky Association of Realtors conducts an Institute twice a year to provide its members with information on financing, advertising, real estate trends, land planning, appraising, investment property. The Realtor who successfully completes the course is designated as a GRI (Graduate Realtors Institute). The course requires approximately 150 hours to complete.

Many times during the year there are Realtor seminars held throughout the state where Realtors have the opportunity to increase their knowledge to be able to provide a professional service to their clients. Attendance of the Realtors to the seminars will become mandatory in order to comply with the continuing education program for those in the real estate profession.

A Realtor can provide you with professional services in the sale of real estate.

Deaths And Funerals

Richard R. Cullom Dies; Was Retired Postal Inspector

Richard R. Cullom, retired postal inspector, died this morning at 7 a.m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. He was 66 years of age.

Mr. Cullom retired in 1971 after 21 years of service as District Postoffice Inspector out of the office at St. Louis, Mo. He had been with the Postoffice Department for 11 years prior to his position as inspector.

The Murray man, a resident of 2103 Gatesboro Drive, was a member of the First Christian Church and the Murray County Club. Born Aug. 11, 1912, in Calloway County, he was the son of the late James A. Cullom and Enzie Patton Cullom.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Rowena Jones Cullom, 2103 Gatesboro Drive, Murray; one daughter, Miss Julia Cullom, Kansas City, Mo.; one brother, Shelby Cullom, Miami, Fla.

The funeral, with date and time to be announced, will be held at the chapel of the Max Churchill Funeral Home with the Rev. Dr. David C. Roos officiating. Burial will follow in the Murray City Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home at a time to be announced.

Milus King Dies At

Home Thursday With Funeral Saturday

Milus King of Farmington Route 1 died early Thursday morning at his home. He was 77 years of age.

The death of Mr. King was discovered when his sister, Mrs. Juanita Branson, with whom he resided, attempted to wake him. Graves County Coroner Joe Sanders said Mr. King died in his sleep from natural causes.

Mr. King was a retired employee of the Tension Envelope Company, St. Louis, Mo., and had been residing here with his sister for about 1½ years. He was a member of the Gibson Presbyterian Church, St. Louis, Mo., and of the Composite Lodge No. 369 Free and Accepted Masons, Doniphan, Mo. He was born Sept. 20, 1901, in Graves County.

Survivors include one son, William Robert King, and three grandchildren—David, Jon, and Danny King, all of Union, Mo., and one sister, Mrs. Juanita Branson, Farmington Route 1.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at the chapel of the Max Churchill Funeral Home with the Rev. Harold B. Howard officiating and Mrs. Oneida White as organist and soloist.

Interment will follow, when weather permits, at the Beech Grove Cemetery, located west of Lynn Grove near the Calloway-Graves County line.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 p.m. today (Friday).

Mrs. Ralph Nelson

Dies At Her Home Here This Morning

Mrs. Ralph (Helen) Nelson died this morning at 8:35 at her home, 1200 Doran Road, Murray. She was 71 years of age.

The Murray woman was stricken ill suddenly at her home. Her death was due to natural causes, according to Calloway County Coroner Tommy Walker, who was called to the scene.

Mrs. Nelson was a member of the First United Methodist Church. Born Nov. 12, 1907, in Carmi, Ill., she was the daughter of the late Richard Tuck and Berte Boyd Tuck.

Survivors include her husband, Ralph Nelson, 1200 Doran Road, Murray; one sister, Mrs. Harry (Lorraine) Proctor, 1200 Doran Road, Murray; one brother, Richard Tuck, Carmi, Ill.

The J. H. Churchill Funeral Home will have charge of the funeral and burial arrangements which remain incomplete.

Joseph R. Sanders Dies Wednesday

Joseph R. Sanders, father of Charles (Chuck) Sanders, Murray, died Wednesday at North Platte, Nebraska, where he resided.

The deceased was born in Poplar Bluff, Mo., in 1901. Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Connie Walschenger, Fort Myers, Fla., and one son, Charles (Chuck) Sanders, 821 North 19th Street, Murray.

The funeral is being held today at 1:30 p.m. at Fort McPherson, Nebraska.

Mrs. Ernie Colson Dies; Was Former Calloway Resident

Mrs. Ernie Colson, a former resident of Calloway County, died Thursday morning at a hospital in Los Angeles, Calif. She was 85 years of age and a resident of Bellflower, Calif.

The former Calloway countess was born Dec. 26, 1893, to the late Robert F. Hall and Susan Walker Hall.

Mrs. Colson is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Max (Becky) Dunn and Miss Ala May Walker, Bellflower, Calif., and Mrs. H. O. (Jeannie) Sanders, Whittier, Calif.; three sons, Robert and Joe Colson, Nashville, Tenn., and Rudy Colson, Knoxville, Tenn.; several grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Also surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Lora Wilkinson, Murray; Mrs. Eulalia Outland, Royal Oak, Mich., and Mrs. Alice Thompson, Nashville, Tenn.; two brothers, Emerson Hall, Murray Route 5, and Robert Hall, Harriman, Tenn.

The funeral and burial services will be held in Whittier, Calif., with the Rose Hill's Mortuary, 3900 South Workman Mill Road, Whittier, Calif., in charge of the arrangements.

Services Are Today For Mr. Scarbrough

The funeral for Earlie (Scoop) Scarbrough, 1711 Olive Street, Murray, is being held today at 2 p.m. at the chapel of the Blalock-Coleman Funeral Home with the Rev. Dossie Wheatley and the Rev. Dr. Jerrell White officiating.

Serving as pallbearers are Max Dowdy, Jerry Gorrell, Robert Trenholm, Roger Mathis, Floyd Garland, and Carl Hosford, all members of the Calloway County Fire-Rescue Squad. Other members of the squad will serve as honorary pallbearers. Burial will follow in the Carson Cemetery near Puryear, Tenn.

Mr. Scarbrough, 68, died Wednesday at 6:40 p.m. at the Lourdes Hospital, Paducah. He was a retired employee of the Murray Division of the Tappan Company.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Margaret Morris Scarbrough, to whom he was married on July 14, 1967; one daughter, Mrs. Steve (Glenda) Ladd, and one granddaughter, Miss Angela Ladd, Hazel Route 2; one sister, Mrs. Leonard (Temple) Garrett, Dearborn, Mich.

Smoking Report Blasted

By The Associated Press
Kentucky reaction to the surgeon general's latest report was marked by pledges from senators and congressmen to do everything they can to protect the state's primary cash crop.

The report, released Thursday, said there is "overwhelming evidence" that smoking causes death and disease.

The findings prompted Republican Larry Hopkins, representative-elect from the 6th District, to renew his call for the resignation of Health Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph Califano.

Hopkins, of Lexington, said in a telegram to President Carter that it is "clear that Secretary Califano has declared open warfare on the tobacco farmer and is therefore totally unfit for his office."

While Hopkins said he does not object to the government's examination of smoking and publicizing the results, he contended the government should not support anti-smoking campaigns that would "deprive people of the freedom to do what they want to do."

U.S. Rep. Romano Mazzoli, D-3rd District, said he had contrasting feelings about tobacco and its health hazards.

The "growing weight" of medical evidence against smoking cannot be ignored, Mazzoli said, but added that it would be immoral for the government "to turn its back on the tens of thousands of tobacco farmers in Kentucky and other states."

Mazzoli and other congressmen will be faced with the problem of how to protect the farmer while dealing with new legislative proposals aimed at curtailing smoking.

"I don't necessarily think it's impossible to accommodate both," Mazzoli said.

Rep. Carl Perkins, D-7th District, called the report a "medical judgment made by trained scientists on a manufactured product. It bears no relation to the agricultural pursuit of tobacco farming which has been an American tradition for 300 years."

Rep. William Natcher, D-2nd District, urged more research on tobacco use and its effects.

"Tobacco is produced in 118 of Kentucky's 120 counties," he said, "and the people in Kentucky have for years believed that if tobacco is harmful to the health of any people, we must do something about it."

"Certainly no one can object to the federal government advising our people fully and accurately of the results of research efforts which are true and accurate," he said.

Sen. Walter Dee Huddleston, D-Ky., labeled the report another step in Califano's "propaganda campaign" against smoking.

Huddleston said he recognized the government's responsibility to warn the public of potential health hazards but "I also believe government agencies should present the total picture, including research to improve the product and research which may cast doubt on preconceived opinions."

Huddleston said he would work for continued protection of the tobacco price-support program, warning that its elimination would not slow down smoking but rather would increase the "supply and drive down prices, thus encouraging smoking."

Sen. Wendell Ford, D-Ky., joined Huddleston in suggesting more government assistance for a safe cigarette.

"I think the report seriously shortchanges the industry's efforts to reduce the tar and nicotine in cigarettes," Ford commented.

He said "the report frankly admits that research efforts to measure any progress the industry has made are sadly lacking and sorely outdated."

Carroll Continues Offensive Before Legislative Committees

By HERBERT SPARROW
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Julian Carroll was to continue his late-week offensive today with an appearance before a joint meeting of the House and Senate Appropriations and Revenue committees.

Carroll was to discuss state government's fiscal situation in light of proposed tax cuts being considered by the special session of the General Assembly.

Carroll had said he would remain in the background during the session, initiated by Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall last year while Carroll was out of the state.

But Carroll met privately Thursday with Democratic senators and talked at length with reporters during an informal news conference in his office.

He also accepted the invitation of Rep. Buddy Adams, D-Bowling Green, to make today's appearance before the A&R committees.

The governor told the Democratic senatorial caucus that the Legislature could not cut taxes without reducing government spending and services or without cutting out construction projects.

And he continued to criticize the fiscal program released earlier in the week by Mrs. Stovall.

Carroll said his rationale that the state would pick up more than $11 million in additional revenue due to recovery efforts from last month's flood "escapes me."

Senate Majority Floor Leader Tom Garrett, D-Paducah, later continued his sharp questioning of Mrs. Stovall's aides when the Senate returned to meeting as a committee of the whole.

"The system we have now gives children and parents a choice and is very satisfactory to the community. Citizens have been able to purchase property in this community and attend school where they wish. To my knowledge, county students have attended the city schools for 30 or 40 years."

The question of what person or body would be given the responsibility of deciding which students would comprise the proposed 300 limit and which students would be compelled to attend the county schools was touched on by board member Melissa Easley.

"What bothers me is who is going to select the students who will cross the district lines," Mrs. Easley stated. "I, as a board member, would not want to be placed in this position."

Following remarks by the board members, Henry opened the floor to discussion by those present. An orderly exchange of comments ensued with the consensus being to maintain the status quo.

Mrs. Gilbert Sears received applause by the group when she said, "I'm not concerned about our money (ADA exchange), I'm concerned about our children."

Several alternative suggestions were made to present to the county board with one, suggested by Tom Wagner, being to list the county families which presently have tuition students in the industrial collection system.

The study is expected to be completed within 14 weeks.

In other business at Thursday's meeting the council:

— Approved on second reading an ordinance establishing job classifications and salary schedules for city employees.

— Authorized the advertising for bids on a new pumper fire truck, estimated to cost $95,000, to be delivered in 1980.

— Was advised of a report of the activity of the Murray Fire Department during 1978. The report pointed out that the department made a total of 271 runs in 1978, compared with 301 in 1977, a decline of 30 for the year.

— Nominated councilman Marshall Jones to serve with magistrate Gil Hopson and a representative from the Senior Citizens Advisory Committee to study the problems faced by the local transit system.

— Were advised by the mayor of a letter he had received from H. M. (Bunk) Scarbrough concerning the operation of the emergency room at the local hospital. Scarbrough charged in his letter that the emergency room is not currently manned around the clock by a physician. The council authorized Henley, who is also a member of the hospital commission, to present the letter to the hospital board at its next meeting.

Hospital administrator, Stuart Poston said this morning that the hospital is not required to have a full-time physician in the emergency room and that when ER physician, Dr. Jorge Giarrastazu, is not on duty, other local physicians are on call.

Garrett finally commented that "it would be a tremendous mistake to resort to fiction and economic gymnastics to justify tax cuts."

"From what I have gathered, all we have to do is reduce taxes and have a periodic disaster and everything will be all right," Garrett said.

Mrs. Stovall also contends there is extra money in the capital construction contingency fund to finance tax cuts. Carroll said there isn't, but told news reporters that he would like to see legislation to require legislative approval for all capital construction projects.

Jobless Rate Rises

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate edged up from 5.8 percent to 5.9 percent last month as the number of persons holding jobs increased by a relatively small 104,000, the Labor Department said today.

However, the department said both black and white workers and adult men and women scored strong gains for all of 1978, the third year of sharp expansion in jobs.

December's employment growth was much slower than that of previous months and was down sharply from November, when 510,000 new jobs were created.

Some private economists say the Carter administration's success in bringing down the unemployment rate is clouded by the prospect of a business downturn.

Because of the emphasis on fighting inflation, these economists expect the Ken Hou of the Office of Policy and Management in the state Department of Finance earlier in the day painted a vague but generally gloomy fiscal picture for the joint A&R Committee.

Hou said that while there is about $23.5 million in surplus money in the General Fund this fiscal year, there are many claims on the money that could make it vanish.

Among those claims was a new revelation that there is expected to be a $2.5 million deficit this year in the Minimum Foundation Program, through which public schools are financed.

Jobless Rate Rises

say new jobs must be created steadily to keep the unemployment rate from rising because of the increase in the working-age population.

In its year-end review, the Labor Department said the number of persons with jobs increased by 3.3 million in 1978, with 2.1 million of the new jobs going to women.

The department said the only group with a worse job situation for 1978 were teenagers. About one out of every four unemployed person was between ages 16 and 19.

The unemployment rates for most categories showed little change last month.

When President Carter took office in January 1977, 7.8 percent of the work force was unemployed and the administration spent several billion dollars to create more jobs.

signed 366," Rose said. "Only around 320 to 325 had been signed each year during the past five years. We felt this was a significant increase."

When the enrollment in the first grade dropped from 65 pupils in the 1977-78 school year to 39 pupils in the 1978-79 school year, the board checked the records and determined that many of the ADA contracts it had signed were for students who were in the Southwest Elementary school district.

"We do not feel it is in the best interest of the system to sign contracts for those students for whom the school was built," Rose continued.

The county superintendent said he felt that this measure would help to stabilize enrollments and help the system plan the number of teachers to hire. He added that he was authorized to write the letter to the Murray board when the Calloway board met on Dec. 14.

In other action taken at the city school board meeting, the board approved the low bid of Purdon and Thurman Insurance for blanket bond and treasury bond coverage. The Murray Insurance Agency was the low bidder for fleet insurance and band instrument insurance. All bids were for a three-year insurance package.

The board decided to wait for clarification of the coverage offered by the bidders on the public institutional policy.

Karen Bolls, Rhonda Hagood and Jean Anne Hudder were accepted as substitute teachers by the board. Non-certified personnel recommendations which were approved were James O'Connor, Lloyd Compton, Martha Dowdy and Rachel Maupin.

Jeffrey reported that all schools in the city system had more than 83.5 percent of the students in school Thursday, which was the first day school was in session following three snow days. Jeffrey said he was very pleased with this figure in view of the facts that the buses did not run and the school day began one hour later.

County Schools ...

are enrolled in the Murray Independent School District," school officials say.

School officials Thursday night said the situation has a dollars and cents impact on the county school system.

Power Equalization funds, funds allotted to current operations, capital outlay (building funds) are all based on ADA, officials said. Some 387 county students currently attend the city system and Rose said, based on $1,000 per pupil, that could mean from $350,000 to $400,000. Seventy-six city pupils attend the county system.

Rose said school officials are not sure why the Southwest enrollment fluctuated this year. "Our thinking is just to put a modest limit on this (the unrestricted contracts between the systems)," Rose said.

A large number of persons attended at Murray Board of Education meeting to talk about the situation and a report on that meeting appears on this page today.

In other school board action from the

Thursday night session:

— The system is working with the Kentucky Fire Marshal's office to correct some 18 fire code deficiencies found in the system. School officials said all except five have been corrected since they were pointed out. And county officials have a plan to correct two of the five by next August and the next three by August of 1980. Officials said the corrections will involve extending some fire alarm systems and adding extra emergency lighting areas in some schools.

— Board members okayed a procedure for Rose to accept either of two football field lights bids depending which bid suited local needs. The first bid is for $4,018 each for four lights and an alternate is $4,310.

— Board members were told Calloway County High has received an all-clear accreditation by Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

— Board members okayed a number of other routine items including personnel matters.
